

ABSTRACT

5 A lighting arrangement comprising a power source, two or more lighting fixtures and switches for switching on power in the lighting fixtures. With the arrangement of the invention, two or more lighting fixtures can be coupled to the same power source. In the invention, the power source is started when one or more voltage supplies are energized. The switches are controlled by means of control wires so that each switch is responsive to energizing the corresponding voltage supply.